The Balkan Peninsula, or the Balkans, is the traditional name of a region in Southeast Europe mostly known for its eventful past, frequently-fought wars, occasional intolerance amongst its peoples, but also for its significant contribution to Europe’s and the world’s cultural history, untouched landscapes, remarkable success in sports and, most of all, proud and courageous inhabitants. The Balkans are populated by residents of different origin and diverse cultural, socio-political and religious views. Immense are the differences in economic and geopolitical status of particular Balkan countries. Some are politically and economically stable, developed countries and are members of the European Union. Others are politically unstable, economically undeveloped and no more than potential candidates for entering the European Union. However, despite these differences, we are connected through shared history and geographical area, some through a shared language, as well as relatively similar desires and possibilities.

One of the primary aims of The Balkan Cities Association of Nephrology, Dialysis, Transplantation and Artificial Organs (BANTAO), founded in 1993 in Ohrid, is to promote and encourage scientific and technological cooperation in the field of renal medicine, including transplantations and artificial organs. BANTAO provides us with the possibility to exchange experiences and knowledge, to educate one another and work on collaborating professional and scientific projects. So far 12 extremely successful BANTAO congresses have been held, and as of 2007 they have been followed by CME courses. All of us, nephrologists from the Balkans, can testify to the fact that our professional and scientific gatherings always include the most acknowledged experts from Europe. and the rest of the world, and are highly efficient, educational and inspiring for future professional and scientific progress and improved treatment of those suffering from kidney disease in our region. Another important success of BANTAO is the semi-annual BANTAO journal introduced in 2003 and is becoming a highly regarded publication in the realm of nephrology. BANTAO represents a successful model of cooperation in the Balkans and makes our borders less noticeable. To that end, we need to continue our cooperation in a friendly, i.e. BANTAO spirit that carries local as well as global significance in present time. We hope for a qualitative professional and scientific Congress in Sarajevo in October 2017, followed throughout by socializing, renewing existing and making new professional acquaintances as well as friendships.

Looking forward to seeing you, in Sarajevo, Bosnia and Herzegovina.

CONGRESS VENUE

Hotel Holiday, No 4 Zmaja od Bosne Street, 71000 Sarajevo, Bosnia and Herzegovina
www.hotelholiday.ba
Located in the centre of Sarajevo, Hotel Holiday is a well-known hotel set just a 5-minute walk away from the famous Baščaršija district.

It was built in 1984 during the 14th Winter Olympic games Sarajevo, and since then is a witness of Bosnia and Herzegovina’s recent history and a certain check point for businessmen and tourists. The creator and mastermind behind the design is the celebrated Bosnia and Herzegovina’s architect Ivan Štraus. With his specific artistic expression he succeeded in conveying the essence of the people and the aesthetic of the traditional house into a structure of such contemporary design.

That approach is best articulated in the interior which is designed to portray the intimacy and the aesthetic of the courtyard indigenous to Bosnia and Herzegovinas architectural and cultural tradition.

Sarajevo is a city in which even strangers can feel at home. Neither geographically expansive nor characterised by large buildings, the city retains a particular, arresting charm with its abundance of busy cafés and abiding tradition of hospitality.

The city’s breathtaking backdrop of seemingly endless hills and towering mountains have in a sense always isolated the city, creating a timeless world, which despite its seclusion has always kept its doors open to the rest of the world. Although Sarajevo is a capital city typified by the hustle and bustle of everyday life, it also possesses a unique ambience that seeps into the soul.

This city epitomizes a partial centuries-old struggle against outside influences combined with the absorption of these influences into one of the most diverse cultures in Europe. Indeed, few places on earth feature an Orthodox and a Catholic church, a mosque and a synagogue within easy walking distance of each other. If there were any city in Europe that effortlessly straddles east and west, it is Sarajevo. Here the Byzantine and Ottoman empires of the east and the Roman, Venetian and Austro-Hungarian empires of the west left an indelible mark through culture, traditions and religions. A walk through Sarajevo is a walk through its past. From the oriental Ottoman quarters lined with sweet shops, cafés and handicraft workshops, to the administrative and cultural centre of Austro-Hungarian times, Sarajevo encompasses the very best of both worlds.

In Sarajevo, people have time for family and friends. It is often said that a man’s wealth here is not measured in his material belongings but rather in his friendships.
